

THE CENTRAL RECORD.

THIRTYSECOND YEAR

LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 30, 1921.

NUMBER 13.

GILBERT DECRIES HARDING TACTICS

Says Country Would Like To Know Where He Stands On One Question.

Washington.—In his first speech on the floor of the House, Representative Ralph Gilbert, Eighth Kentucky District, Democrat, attacked the Porter peace resolution as a "legislative abortion to relieve the Republican Administration of its own folly."

Referring to President Harding's attitude on the peace situation he said:

"I have known men able to escape taking any side, but he is the only man I have ever known with such transcendent ability as to be considered the champion of every side."

"It would be refreshing to the entire country to be able to agree as to where he stands on some one question."

The Congressional election in the Eighth Kentucky District last fall was fought out on a straight question on the peace resolution or the League of Nations, Mr. Gilbert asserted.

"It is true that President Harding received a large majority in the country at large," he said, "but he did so by using the same kind of tactics being played now and because he received the votes of those like Charles Evans Hughes, who believed his election would be the surest way of entering the league, as well as of those like Senator Hiram Johnson of California, who believed his election would be the surest way of staying out."

Accommodating Candidates.

Allie Sanders tells us that Garrard county has the most accommodating candidates it has ever had been his pleasure to meet. He had occasion to break part of his answer a few days ago and was unable to find the desired piece in any of the implement stores of the city.

He mentioned the fact to the various candidates and asked for assistance. The result has been that his back yard now is a veritable junk pile, as every single candidate in the county has brought him pieces of mowers that a junk dealer would look upon with envious eyes.

Garrard A Battle Ground

W. S. Kaltenbacher says in the Louisville Times—Indications are that the fight between the two parties in Garrard County this year will eclipse any of former years. The county is regarded as the real battle ground in that section of the State and may decide the political control in the State Senate. One of the most interesting races is that for the senatorial seat from the Eighteenth district. J. E. Robinson, the Democratic nominee for Senator, and his Republican opponent, J. S. Haselden, both live in Garrard county, and no matter what may be the outcome Garrard will furnish the member of the upper branch. While Garrard county is nominally Republican in national State elections, the Democrats always make a good showing in "off years" and the party now being in excellent shape, the leaders believe that the Democrats will more than hold their own.

Delightful Birthday Surprise.

On Monday, June 20th, the children and grandchildren of Mrs. H. H. Cox surprised her with a bountiful basket dinner. With the exception of one daughter, Mrs. B. M. Brown and family, of Knoxville, Tenn., the entire family was present.

At noon dinner was served to some thirty-five or forty guests and every one seemed to enjoy it to the utmost. During the afternoon pictures were made of the entire gathering.

Those outside the immediate family present were the aged grandmother, who reaches her eighty-third milestone August 20th, but who seemed to enjoy herself with the other children. Also her daughter, Miss Cynthia Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Alexander, of Danville, and Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Estes and children, of Lancaster were present.

Late in the afternoon all left reluctantly wishing Mrs. Cox many more such happy birthdays.

NEW MANAGEMENT

Ollie Carpenter Takes Charge Of Baseball Team.

A number of citizens of the city, all of them baseball enthusiasts, have taken over the management of the Lancaster Baseball Team and have elected O. R. Carpenter its manager for the remaining season.

Several good games have been scheduled, among them one with Harrodsburg tomorrow (Friday) afternoon. This should be one of the best games of the year, as Harrodsburg has only been defeated one time during the present season. Next Monday, July 4th, a game has been arranged with Stanford, to be played at Crab Orchard. A good delegation of boosters should attend these games and show the boys who have worked and practiced hard, our appreciation of the sport which is the greatest game in America today.

Be a booster, don't be a "misfit citizen." With apologies to Walt Mason, we might say:

"Breathes there a man with soul so tame, that when the home team wins a game, he doesn't throw a fit. Who doesn't help to make a noise, or take his place among the boys, who on the bleachers sit? If such there be go set him down as an incubator to the town, a brake upon its wheel; for any fellow is a crime, who doesn't at the baseball time, a glow of rapture feel. If he can view unmoved the score, which shows us how the home team bore the form off the map; the soul within him is decayed, our councilmen should take a spade and plant that kind of a chap. For he's the man who always grunts when we'd put on improvement stunts, and pave the village streets, who always beefs about his tax, and sticks to penance fights as waxy and prices downward beats. He is the skate who never gives much satisfaction while he lives, whose worth we can't discern; but when at last he cashes in, the people raise a joyful din, and costly fire-works burn."

Pin Scratch Fatal To Young Wife.

Lancaster friends of Slout Lillard, of Danville, but born in Lancaster, not many years ago, learned with deep regret of the death of his wife, Mrs. Jane Crawford Lillard, who died at the Danville Hospital last Monday morning following a short illness of blood poison. Mrs. Lillard was 25 years old and beside her husband, is survived by one child, a daughter, nine months old. Mrs. Lillard was a graduate of Kentucky College for Women and is a niece of the Misses Green, of Danville. She and her husband had just recently returned from Paris, France. Her death was untimely indeed, it being said that the scratch of a pin on her face caused the blood poisoning.

"Garrard Twist For Garrard Cobs."

Copying an article which appeared in the Record several weeks ago relative to the organization of a tobacco factory in Lancaster, the Louisville Times makes the following comment which is of unusual interest in view of the fact that a cob pipe factory is being favorably talked of by several of the prominent citizens of Lancaster. The Times says: "If Lancaster again enters the manufacture of burley twist, it should be a selling point to advertise 'Garrard Twist for Garrard Cobs,' for that county is noted for growing a quality of corn cobs which make the finest pipes. Nowhere else in Kentucky do such desirable cobs grow. There is something in the soil of a particular part of the county that produces the sweetest cobs, aside from their size and the large pith center."

Union Services.

The first union services of the summer will be held at the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening. Rev. E. H. Bourland of the Christian church will preach the sermon. The other ministers of the town will participate in the services.

The union services throughout last summer were quite well attended and greatly enjoyed by practically the whole town and community. It is hoped that this summer will witness a repetition of meetings largely attended and profitable. To this end everybody is urged to be present next Sunday evening and every Sunday evening thereafter as long as the union services are conducted.

CHAUTAUQUA

Begins Next Wednesday

Splendid Entertainment Assured In The Five Day's Program.

The Redpath Chautauqua, styled this year as the "Chautauqua de luxe," will give its opening program next Wednesday afternoon and close Thursday night of the following week. As has been their custom for several years, there will be no program on Sunday.

The five day's program is as follows:

Dull Court Day.

Last Monday was one of the duller court days held in Lancaster in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. The crowd was nothing more than a Saturday afternoon assemblage, and all came mostly to spend the day and very little of their money.

Looks Like Contest.

Two candidates have already announced for the republican nomination for State Senator in this district, and it begins to look as if there would be a contest. Dr. R. L. Davidson, of Stanford, has filed his declaration of Frankfort and Col. Joe Haselden, of this city has done likewise and says he's out for the nomination.

No Sunday Mail.

Postmaster Brown announces that there will be no general delivery of the mail on Sunday. This seems to be one of the faults of a second class office. But he tells us that the law does not provide for remuneration for the Sunday service, hence its discontinuance. Those who have boxes, may still have access to them on Sunday as in the past.

Noah Marsee, Jr. Announces For Magistratrate.

The announcement of Noah Marsee, Jr., of Bryantsville, as a Republican candidate for Magistrate in district No. 2, is the result of the earnest solicitation of his many friends throughout that section of the county where he is so well and favorably known.

Mr. Marsee needs no introduction to the citizens of the county where he was born and has lived all his life. He is one of Bryantsville's leading merchants and has many friends who will work hard for his nomination and election.

His Announcement

To the voters of Magisterial District No. 2:—

I take this method of informing you that I am a candidate for magistratrate in Bryantsville Magisterial District No. 2, on the Republican ticket, and if elected will fill the office to the best of my ability, assuring the voters, both women and men, high and low, rich and poor, that all will receive the same courtesy. Having never before offered myself as a candidate for office, I now submit my career and qualifications as a citizen of the district for your consideration, and if found worthy of your support and influence, I earnestly solicit it.

Yours very truly,
Noah Marsee, Jr.

Robinson Given Warm Welcome.

(Interior Journal.)

The I. J. man had the pleasure of accompanying Mr. Joe Robinson, of Lancaster, to Liberty Monday and spending the day with him there. Mr. Robinson, as is well known, is a candidate for the democratic nomination for State Senator in this district composed of Lincoln, Casey, Boyle and Garrard counties, and is making an active campaign. He was warmly received by the democracy of Casey county, and while the county is overwhelmingly republican many of the enthusiastic democrats feel that if Mr. Robinson is the nominee they can so materially reduce the republican vote that his election will be a certainty. Mr. Robinson is a splendid mixer and Casey county democrats are very much impressed with him. That he made many friends there Monday there is no doubt. An effort is being made to have R. P. Young, cashier of the Middleburg Bank, head of the ticket this fall and if he will do so, the impression is that at least a portion of the democratic ticket can win. He is popular with all classes, has the confidence of every man, woman and child in the county and is by odds the choice of the Casey democracy for county judge. He has promised to give his answer in the next day or so and if he agrees to make the race, you can put it in your pipe and smoke it he will win. This sounds almost incredible when it is told that Casey county gave a republican majority of 1,600 votes last November. She never did such a thing before and she will never again. Republicans and independents and whatnots have gotten their fill of unfilled promises and they are not at all pleased with the conditions that have followed the election of President Harding. They are not too well pleased with Gov. Morrow's official career, either, while his pardon record makes his strongest friends and admirers change the subject when the name of Ed Morrow is mentioned. Casey democrats are also anxious for "light" Moore to make the race for county attorney. He is very strong with the voters and has been elected over republican opponents several times. He is willing to make the race if Mr. Young will run for county judge. It is not expected that the democrats will name a full ticket, and perhaps it would not be the wise thing to do. They are thinking seriously and almost prayerfully over nominations and are determined that when a ticket or part of one is put out it shall have their undivided and enthusiastic support. They are full of fight and if they do not elect the democrats nominated they will come so near it that the republicans will be given the worst scare of their lives.

An Apology

Our type made the advertisement of the Harrodsburg, Lee and Produce Co., in our last issue, say they were paying 25 cents a pound for nice hens, when it should have been nice hams. We are sorry that the mistake occurred and hope it didn't cause our friends too much worry and explanation. This firm still wants all the country hams it can buy at 25 cents a pound, but they are not paying that much for hens.

Exhibits Well Attended

The Exhibits of the Garment-Making Clubs held throughout the county the past two weeks have been quite well attended and characterized by a splendid interest.

At these exhibits the girls gave short programs, followed by the presentation of the prizes, after which there was a social hour for the visitors to inspect the work of the girls.

The prize winners have been as follows:

Bryantsville—1st. prize, Ola Doolin, Gingham Dress; 2nd. prize, Lou Doolin, Dress.
Manse—1st. prize, Eloise Ledford, Gingham Dress; 2nd. prize, Blanche Bowling, Silver Thimble; 3rd. prize, Florence Holmes, Box of Handkerchiefs.

Buckeye—1st. prize, Christine Davis, Pair Silk Hose; 2nd. prize, Myrtle Davis, Sewing Basket; 3rd. prize, Roberta Ray, Sewing Basket.

Buena Vista—1st. prize, Rachel Scott, Fountain Pen, 2nd. prize—Sadie Ruble, Gingham Dress, 3rd. prize—Gladys Hamilton, Box Stationery.

Lancaster (High School) 1st. prize—Marie Cotton, Dress; 2nd. prize—Mossie Crisellis, Fancy Comb; 3rd. prize—Clyde Hughes—Pair of Scissors.

Lancaster Junior High School—1st. prize—Minnie Turner—Silk Hose; 2nd. prize—Agnes Pollard—Pair of Scissors; 3rd. prize Stella Speake—Silver Thimble.

Lancaster 5 and 6th Grades—1st. prize—Nell Pelphrey—$2.00; 2nd. prize—Dorothy Dunlap, Silver Thimble; 3rd. prize Elizabeth Rich—Pair of Scissors.

WILLIE ROGERS

Ordained As Minister At Paint Lick.

On Sunday afternoon at three o'clock the ordination of Mr. Wm. Rogers took place at the Mt. Tabor church at Paint Lick. Visiting pastors and deacons were asked to assist in the service. Dr. O. Olla Green, pastor of the First Baptist church, Richmond, was chosen as chairman of the council and directed the ordination service. Mr. Edward Fothergill, of Berea, was elected secretary. Dr. J. W. Heagle, of Georgetown, was asked to conduct the examination of the candidate for the ministry.

After relating his religious experience and call to the ministry, Mr. Rogers was asked to state clearly his belief as to the inspiration of the Scriptures, and the teaching the Bible about God, Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit, Sin, Redemption, Faith, Repentance, the Future Life, the Church and its Ordinances and Officers. The questions covered a wide range of religious subjects, the other ministers also asked questions at intervals.

The Rev. Mr. Rogers showed a thorough knowledge of all the subjects on which he was questioned giving Scriptural references when called for to substantiate his doctrinal statements. All the members of the ordaining council were well pleased and thoroughly satisfied with statements of the young brother and the ordination service was continued.

Rev. A. T. Ross, pastor at Kirksville, was asked to deliver the charge to the church emphasizing its duties to the young minister who was then being set apart to such a sacred work. Rev. J. B. Skaggs, pastor of the Mt. Tabor church, delivered the charge to the candidate, urging especially a thorough preparation for the work of the ministry. Rev. John Cunningham, of Berea, led in the ordaining prayer.

Rev. Rogers was recently called to the pastorate of the Gilead church and has entered upon his duties there. He expects, however, in the near future to enter one of the denominational schools of the state to prepare himself for the ministry.

Redeem Your Pledges For Chautauqua.

The ticket committee for the coming Chautauqua have been putting in some hard work this week, distributing the tickets that were pledged last year. This committee has had several hard jolts by some refusing to redeem the tickets that had been subscribed for at our last Chautauqua. Many more tickets must be sold before the guarantors are "out of the woods" and if the people really want a Chautauqua for another year, they must come across and prove it by purchasing tickets for the coming entertainment which promises to be the best one that has ever shown in Lancaster.

Moonshine Still Found And Destroyed.

U. S. Marshal J. E. Nash, of Somerset, and Messrs. Thurmond, Critch and Fox made a raid Saturday night and captured and destroyed a moonshine still. The still was located on the Hanging Fork on the farm of Haven McLeath, on the Lancaster pike just over the Lincoln county line. There was one present when the still was found, but the officers arrested Albert Creech, a tenant on the farm and brought him to town and lodged him in jail. Creech will have an examining trial before U. S. Commissioner Lawwill tomorrow, on a charge of moonshining. There was every indication of the still having been in full operation. The still was destroyed by the officers. It is thought that moonshine had been made there and sent to other places for sale. The officers deserve great credit for finding this still, which was so securely hidden in a ravine that it was almost undiscoverable and so placed that it could not be seen within a few feet of its location. —Danville Messenger.

FABULOUS PROFITS

Leaf Companies Make "Killing" Off Kentucky Tobacco Purchased Last Winter.

Saved $107,000,000.

Lower prices paid for Kentucky and Virginia types of tobacco (mostly Kentucky) and greater demand for cigarettes have enabled cigarette manufacturers to show the largest profits in their history, despite the general business depression, a front-page article in a recent issue of a Wall Street Journal said.

Manufacturers saved approximately $107,000,000 as a result of the slump of Kentucky grades alone, the decline on tobacco grown in this State having been the greatest, the article continues. The average price paid Kentucky farmers December 1, last, was 15c a pound compared with 32.2c a year before, 26.3c two years before and 20c three years before and an average price of 14.8c for the ten years 1910 to 1919, inclusive, the Journal states.

"One of the most popular types of cigarettes is that made of Kentucky tobacco, it says. 'This kind retails at 20c for a package of twenty. Before the war it retailed at 10c. Taxes then were 3c on the package, against 6c today. In 1919 Kentucky tobacco brought 38.2c a pound compared with 7.8c in 1915, and increase of nearly 300. Other materials advanced in about the same proportion, while retail prices increased only about 100 per cent."

"It was estimated last year that 70 per cent of production costs went for leaf. With prices for leaf cut in half compared with those for the 1919 crop, the enormous saving to the cigarette manufacturer is obvious. Labor costs in cigarette making represent 10 per cent of the total."

Cigarette Output at Record.
In the first 4 months of 1921 cigarette production on the basis of internal revenue figures amounted to 16,307,000,000. This is at the annual rate of nearly 49,000,000,000 compared with 44,651,000,000 in 1920 44,804,000,000 in 1919 and 37,914,000,000 in 1918.

As a result of lower leaf prices, cigarette manufacturers are accumulating large quantities of cash. It is officially estimated that one of the big manufacturers purchased its supply of tobacco at something like $20,000,000 less than it cost in 1919. This figure exceeds the manufacturing profit of any cigarette concern last year, and is nearly 15 per cent of the 1920 profits of the five most important manufacturers.

There appears little likelihood of a reduction in cigarette prices, for the time being, at least. Growing demand makes it unnecessary to cut to get business. Also, a reduction of 50c a thousand, or 1c on a package of twenty cigarettes, would probably not be passed on to the consumer, except in cases where there was competition among dealers. Leading tobacco men feel that when a cut is made, it will be 5c on the package of twenty cigarettes.

Sanders Sale.

The stock of groceries, etc., sold by L. G. Davidson, trustee of Coy S. Sanders, last Saturday afternoon, was bought by Mr. Sanders for $730. Mr. Sanders is now doing business at the old stand and is offering and selling some rare bargains as he is compelled to give up the store room by July 15th.

Wins Diamond Ring.

The diamond ring given by the stock company which played in our city last week, was awarded to Miss Susie Williams, one of the popular young ladies at the telephone exchange. She received over one hundred thousand votes and nearly twice as many votes as all the other candidates combined. She is deeply grateful to her friends for the interest manifested in her behalf.

Teachers Institute

The Garrard county teachers in Richmond, the date being fixed for institute will be held this year in July 25th, and is to last for one week. It was first announced that it would be held next week but the date has been changed. All teachers of the county who did not attend the summer school at Richmond are required to attend this institute.

Best Corn Cultivation Should Kill All Weeds

That form of cultivation which most effectively destroys weeds is the best one to use in cultivating corn, according to results obtained in an experiment conducted by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station for ten years. Five different methods of cultivating were practiced in the experiment, all weeds being kept down and the average yield of the different plots determined. Deep cultivation six to eight times during the season resulted in an average yield of 56.2 bushels an acre and deep cultivation three to four times gave an average yield of 56.1 bushels an acre. Shallow cultivation three to four times gave an average yield of 55.8 bushels an acre. Cultivating six to eight times by the shallow method resulted in an average of 55.5 bushels an acre. On plots where no cultivation was done but where the weeds were kept scraped off with a sharp hoe the average yield an acre was 52.9 bushels. This method of keeping down weeds was not to be recommended because of the labor and expense connected with it and was practiced to only further determine the need for cultivation.

The deep cultivation was about four inches as deep as is practicable with a two-horse cultivator, while the shallow cultivation was about two and one-half inches deep.

If shallow cultivation controls weeds it is preferable because it is less expensive," said Prof. Roberts, head of the soils and crops department of the station in discussing the experiment.

In deep cultivation deep furrows should not be left because they may cause serious washing of the soil. One should not begin by cultivating shallow and going deeper as the corn grows larger but one may begin deep and gradually reduce the depth of the cultivation.

COLLECTION OF VALUABLE BOOKS AT TRANSYLVANIA

Interesting Library of Kentucky and Danville History by Dr. A. H. Barkley.

"The Journal," a weekly magazine published in the interests of the American Medical Association, in its issue of June 18, contained a very interesting article on the Transylvania Library, which contains many books on Kentucky and Danville history. The article was written by A. H. Barkley, M. D. (Hon.), C. M., of Lexington, Ky., and much of the early history of Crow's Station (now Danville, Ky.) is given. Following is a part of the article taken from the Journal:

An item on Transylvania Library appeared in The Journal, Feb. 19, 1921. It is doubtful whether any like collection of books so valuable has been kept in the background so long as those now occupying the shelves in Transylvania.

The nucleus of this wonderful collection was started by John Todd of Virginia, who gave to Transylvania Seminary, then located at Crow's Station, now Boyle County, Kentucky, his library, which consisted of many valuable and rare books. Todd's books were brought from Virginia over the Allegheny Mountains to Kentucky, by what was then known as the "Wilderness Road," this of itself when one reflects on the inaccessibility of the destination and the poor facilities for travel, was no small feat to accomplish under such conditions.

These books were brought to Crow's Station, Ky., in 1784, and placed in the double log cabin then occupied by Transylvania Seminary. They remained here until their removal to Lexington, Ky., in 1792.

There was formed in Lexington prior to 1792, a company that styled itself the Transylvania Land Company. This company was made up largely of Lexington citizens of a philanthropic turn of mind, who offered Transylvania Seminary a plot of ground in Lexington, now known as "Gratz Park," if the Seminary would move from Crow's Station to Lexington. This offer was accepted and, in the fall of 1792, the seminary with its collection of books moved to Lexington and occupied a brick building located on the ground donated by the land company.

The time at which the formation of this wonderful storehouse of knowledge was begun can be recalled, and in presenting these facts it is interesting to note that Kentucky was then a section of Virginia. The ground that the land company gave had been but a short time before occupied by hardy pioneers, and was known as the "Tomahawk Claim," beyond which lay endless leagues of shadowy forest.

The vast domain west of the Mississippi had not been explored. The city of St. Louis was but an outpost for traders. The name Chicago had not been coined. Fort Dearborn occupied by two companies of United States troops, marked a trail in the prairie among the sloughs where stands today the Queen and Queen and Mistress of the lakes. Cincinnati had not yet taken her place on the map, being known as Fort Washington.

General Pakenham had not attempted the capture of New Orleans, and General Jackson, who was to drive him with his troops back to his ships, was unknown to fame.

Wars with the Indians were of frequent occurrence. The prow of a steamboat had never cut the waters of a western stream, and the whistle of a locomotive was unheard of in this section.

There were only two avenues by which Kentucky could be reached from the east. One was the Ohio River, the other the Wilderness Road. The former was covered by keel-boats, flat-boats, and canoes; the latter was traveled on horseback or on foot; no wheel had broken it or been broken by it.

It was in such a country and with such environments that this great library began to grow and diffuse knowledge throughout the sparsely settled country.

The history of the library is closely linked with that of Transylvania Medical School. As is well known, Transylvania Medical College, the first of its kind west of the Alleghenies, was located in Lexington, Ky. Its faculty was composed of such men as Drs. Samuel Brown, Frederick Daniel Drake, Charles Caldwell, and others of like mental caliber and literary attainments.

At the first meeting of the trustees of Transylvania Medical School early in 1799, Dr. Samuel Brown was authorized to go to Europe and purchase books for the library. Five hundred dollars, no small sum in those days, was given Dr. Brown for this purpose.

Dr. Brown, after much hard travel and many inconveniences reached Europe, and bought such books as in his judgement the college needed to add to its already growing library. These were carefully packed and shipped to this country where, after much delay, they finally reached Lexington.

As the western country began to develop and the influence of the college and the library began to be felt much beyond its present confines, the need for more books became urgent. In 1820, therefore, Dr. Charles Caldwell was commissioned to proceed to Europe and buy such books as were needed.

Before Dr. Caldwell went to Europe, he induced the legislature of Kentucky to give $5,000 for the express purpose of purchasing books for Transylvania Library, which, as declared in the act, was to remain the property of the state of Kentucky. Simultaneously, the city of Lexington advanced $6,000 for the same purpose, but specified that with this loan the city was to retain a lien on the books. The loan, however, subsequently became a donation. In addition, many physicians in the West and South and in Kentucky gave liberally, making in all about $13,000 which Dr. Caldwell was to spend for books.

Caldwell was a man of refined tastes and of excellent learning, and no one could have been better selected to purchase books than he. This was evidenced by the fact that while in Europe on this mission he procured some of the most valuable books to be had at that time.

The demand for knowledge was so great, and the books then on hand were in such constant use by both physicians and students that it was decided in 1840 to send Dr. J. M. Hush and Robert Peter to Europe to purchase more books. This time they were authorized to spend $11,000, which they did with great discretion, obtaining some of the rarest and most valuable books to be found at that time in London and Paris.

Transylvania continued to spend money for books for the medical library until it had acquired a collection of more than 8,000 volumes, which covered the entire field of medicine and surgery as it was taught at that time.

There are to be found in this library, besides the books mentioned above, the theses of all graduates in medicine from 1818 to 1859, which number 1,700; also 1,000 pamphlets on medical topics by men who were recognized as authority on the respective subjects. There are to be found two dozen lithographs on canvases of prominent physicians and surgeons of the period of 1825 to 1835. These are mostly of those members of the profession who were prominent in the French Academy. The books are in good condition, the paper of good quality, the type clear, and the bindings and plates bear the mark of expert workmanship. Mrs. Morton, the librarian, has gone thru the collection, classifying and arranging the books so that there is quick and easy reference to any subject. Visitors are always welcome.

It might be stated that while the trustees of Transylvania were collecting the medical library they were not unmindful of those books on law and literature in general, as there are 10,000 volumes on general subjects and 2,000 law books, comprising in all 20,000 volumes of most valuable books. The library does not shine in books of recent publication; but in rare old books on medicine and the allied sciences, law and general subjects, this collection of books eclipses anything of its kind west of the Alleghenies, and it has few equals in this country and abroad.

These rare old books, when compared with many of the modern ones, recall a few lines from Hazlitt's Essay on "Old Books," in which he says that "dust and smoke and noise of modern literature have nothing in common with the pure, silent air of immortality." And he further adds that "many of the new books are also like modern made dishes in this respect, that they are generally little else than hashes and refractions of what has been served up entire and in a more natural state at other times."

Great valuation is placed on this collection of books, and no one doing literary work, whether in law, medicine or the very early classics, should fail to visit this library before completing his data. Many persons of note have availed themselves of the riches in these old books.

FARM STOCK

MILK ESSENTIAL FOR STOCK

While Good Pasture is Important for Calves No Substitute Will Take Place of Milk.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"You cannot starve a young animal so as to check its growth, and still get good results." This comment by a Missouri farmer on the problem of preventing runtiness in live stock is in accord with the experiences of several hundred other live stock owners who have contributed their experience to the United States Department of Agriculture's study of this subject. "Starvation," he adds, "caused by the robbery of the weak by stronger animals, improper and unsanitary feeding, indigestion caused by careless feeding, unclean troughs, pails, and ewill barrels—all of these things cause much of the trouble in farmer's experience, especially in their hog lots."

In discussing the importance of milk as an essential food both for live stock and people, he remarks that while good pasture is very essential in the growth of calves, for veal calves to substitute will take the place of fresh cows' milk. "From my own experience," he states, "I know that a young animal will recover from retarded or stunted growth. As a child I was normal in size and my parents were of strong, sturdy Scotch stock. When, some years ago, my parents settled as pioneers in Iowa, meat was a luxury, and milk and butter were unobtainable, at least for the first year. At the end of the year we got a cow and chickens, so our living conditions improved." He adds that malaria followed, and although he outgrew the effects of the disease, he "never gained the physical strength, weight, or development of bone and muscle" that he should have had. "My normal weight," he says, "has been about 125 pounds, and still my health has been the best since I got the 'shakes.' Keep your young animals growing."

PRODUCTION OF GOOD HORSES

Increase in Number of Draft Animals Held to Be Great Need, Says Wayne Dinamore.

Horse dealers feel that the horse is "coming back." According to information gathered by the Horse Association of America and transmitted to J. F. Kuehn of university farm, secretary of the Minnesota Horse Breeders' association, more draft horses are now being sold for city use than for many years past. Increased production of good horses is held to be a great need at present. Wayne Dinamore, an authority well known in horse circles, says: "You can safely assure the farmers of a better market for their surplus animals."

HIGH SILLS CAUSE OF LOSS

Nebraska Breeder Finds That Little Pigs Are Unable to Follow Sows Into Pens.

Many pigs are lost and others are stunted in growth as the result of exposure because of high sills in front of hogpens. This is the observation of a Nebraska swine grower in a letter to the United States Department of Agriculture on the cause of runt live stock. He urges that stockmen examine their equipment, and be certain that small pigs are able to follow the sows into the pens. Attention to balanced rations, sanitation, and pure water are likewise mentioned as methods of preventing runts.

BENEFIT OF STABLE MANURE

It Should Be Balanced With Acid Phosphate, Which Is Comparatively Inexpensive.

Manure contains humus in plenty and all the necessary plant materials, as well as bacteria which put these materials into the most usable shape for crops. To get the full benefit of stable manure, however, it should be balanced with acid phosphate, which is comparatively inexpensive.

KEEPING HARNESS IN REPAIR

Neglect Results in Injury That Lessens Durability—Sew With Strong Linen Thread.

Neglect of harness results in injury that greatly lessens its durability. The sewing, which should have been done with strong waxed linen thread, must be kept in good condition. All buckles should remain solidly in place. It is advisable to wash and oil harness frequently.

CHOLERA

Is Most Serious Obstacle To Hog Industry.

One of the most serious obstacles to the success of the hog industry in Kentucky is hog cholera, according to the veterinary department of the College of Agriculture which has just issued a circular on the prevention and control of the disease in order to help farmers combat it. Hog cholera is more or less prevalent at all times, being an infectious and highly contagious disease with a high death rate. It spreads rapidly from animal to animal in the herd and from farm to farm in communities. It is caused by a filterable virus which is present in the discharges of sick animals. Many hogs that have apparently recovered from the trouble still harbor the disease and often spread it to other animals. Control and preventive measures to be used in fighting the disease are summarized as follows by the circular:

"Any pig showing evidence of all health should be separated from the remainder of the herd and closely observed for developments of the disease. Depression, loss of appetite and a high temperature are always suggestive to hog cholera. If a hog dies a post-mortem should be held and the organs carefully examined for the indications of cholera. It often happens that when cholera infection occurs in a healthy herd one individual will sicken and die some days before the herd as a whole shows signs of sickness. Therefore it is important to know the cause of death of the first pig that dies."

"Burn or bury deeply all pigs that die, regardless of the cause of their death."

"All pigs purchased and brought to the farm should be kept under close observation in separate quarters for at least three weeks."

"To prevent hog cholera clean the hog house of all litter and dirt, spray with an antiseptic and apply whitewash and paint. Bake up and remove or burn all waste and rubbish in and about the pens and yards. Use air-slaked lime freely in the yards adjacent to the hog-house and from time to time where the pigs are fed."

A number of other preventive measures are given in the circular, stating that the only agent which is a preventive for the disease is anti-hog cholera serum. The circular outlines the method of vaccination and its uses. The publication is No. 102 and is entitled "The Prevention and Control of Hog Cholera." It may be obtained free by writing the Experiment Station, Lexington.

Hot Water Treatment Controls Wheat Smut.

That the hot water method of treating wheat seed is effective in controlling loose smut is shown by the results which have been obtained by George Fischer, Daviess county, who cooperated with County Agent J. W. Whitehouse in carrying on a demonstration. Two bushels of seed wheat were treated by the hot water method and sown on an acre of one field. Seed for the remainder of the field was untreated. A recent examination of the field showed that the portion of the field which had been planted with treated seed was free from smut while the portion planted with untreated seed contained from three to four per cent smut.

Edith's Little Flirtation

By HAZEL SMITH.

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

Monsieur Rambouche? You mean that disgusting little Frenchman whom we all hated so at Bar Harbor last summer? He called himself the count of something or other, didn't he, and claimed that the wrong branch of the family had got hold of the title? So he has settled down in America and become naturalized, has he? And he really had money of his own and was not a fortune-hunter! Well, of course that does put his persecution of Edith Moore upon a different level, and it may be, as you say, that he loved her and not her fortune—only he certainly took a queer method of showing his affection, not to speak of her being already engaged to George Turner. And he's married whom? Miss Moore! Edith's sister! Well, that surely is a new one, and now since you don't seem to know all the circumstances about last summer I'll enlighten you in turn.

You know I always stayed at a quiet, old-fashioned place up in Mount Desert. And I'd met Edith Moore and her sister Miss Elsie each summer since they were little bits of things, so that when she whispered to me the news of her engagement to George I was mightily well pleased. And George came up for his vacation a day or two later and I told you it made me glad to see how happy they were.

Monsieur Rambouche was staying at the same place. You remember how he used to vent his spleen on America! It was good enough to live in for a while and to spend a holiday in, but as for being a citizen! He tried me a little, but I couldn't exactly repeat a man standing up for his own country, though why should he come here and then make fun of us?

What made me angry was when he attacked American women. The women of his land, according to him, were paragons of virtue, and we mustn't believe those wicked plays and novels. When they were married they stayed at home, and helped their husbands at their offices as well, and before marriage they made their mothers' and fathers' and brothers' and sisters' lives happy. And as for flirting—why, hadn't France had to take over the English word because there wasn't any for it in French?

Monsieur seemed to be pretty fond of Miss Edith all the same, and I believe she really liked the little fellow, for all she used to laugh at him. Anyway, when George came up he went round scowling and muttering, and George and Edith had no end of fun out of him. Then George had to go back, but he promised to run up again for the week-end a while later. And so Monsieur Rambouche got his day after all.

Now it's a singular fact, my dear, the way our women's tastes run. Actually, after George had gone back to New York Edith entered upon quite a platonic flirtation with Monsieur Rambouche. I suppose she felt that, loving George, and therefore being perfectly secure against a change of heart, she might as well make the most of her last days of liberty. But those Frenchmen certainly know how to make love. And so—well, one evening I was told that Monsieur had been seen depositing a little piece of hair in a locket.

I suppose they have a different code in France. Now that you tell me Monsieur actually has money of his own I can acquit him of the grosser crime. Perhaps he was sincerely in love with her and showed it in his own fashion. But, anyway, the upshot was, he told her that unless she married him he would write to George, enclosing the memento, and then there would be pretty price to pay.

He did write to George, and sent him the hair, and told him he was a coward and that he and Miss Edith had made him a laughing-stock, and if George would come over to France with him he would show him how gentlemen settled such matters in his own country.

Of course, in Monsieur's mind that settled everything between George and Edith. And Monsieur, not dreaming that George would come, was taking the air upon the beach when George Turner and Edith came strolling along, arm in arm.

At the sight of them Monsieur almost faltered. Then he stood up bravely and began to denounce Edith in unmeasured language, while she smiled scornfully at him and clung to George's arm.

"You little fool," said George, when he had finished; "we don't fight duels in this country."

"You don't understand," he stammered. "She gave me her hair, this lady who is engaged to marry you! Don't you understand now? She is false, like all American women. Hien! If she does that before marriage what will she do after? She is a flirt."

"See here, Monsieur Rambouche," said George, taking him by the arm. "I'm going to overlook all this because of your disgusting ignorance. In this country, my friend, it is a girl's privilege to flirt, whether she's engaged or not. It's expected of her. Now, if you'll come back to the hotel, I'll buy you something cool to drink. You look as though you needed it."

And so you say Monsieur has become naturalized now. Dear me! I suppose the shock of this intelligence upset all his preconceived ideas. You know they were good friends, but I didn't know he had married Miss Elsie. But in strict confidence, dear, I wonder just what George did say to Edith afterward.

Formaldehyde Treatment Controls Smut On Onions.

Treating onion seed with formaldehyde is effective in preventing smut on the stem, according to results obtained by John Hartman, a Jefferson county farmer in a demonstration which he conducted in co-operation with County Agent F. E. Merriman. A recent examination showed that the part of the field planted with treated seed was practically free from smut while the part planted with untreated seed was badly infested. The seed was treated at the time it was sowed with a solution made one quart of 40 per cent formaldehyde and 50 gallons of water.

Blue Grass Poultry Show To Be Held Sept. 5 To 10

Plans are being made for a poultry show with a special classification, liberal premiums and licensed judges at the Blue Grass Fair, September 5 to 10, according to an announcement which has just been made by A. S. Chapin, extension specialist in poultry from the College of Agriculture. Farmers in Fayette and surrounding counties are showing a great deal of interest in the proposed show, according to the report, and a large number of exhibits are expected to be made. The show will be housed in the poultry building which will be put in shape to accommodate from 500 to 1,000 chickens.

Girls Of 13 Counties To Enter New Contest

Thirteen counties will send demonstration teams consisting of three junior agricultural club girls to the State Fair for a demonstration team contest, according to Miss Anita Barnham, assistant state leader of junior agricultural club work who is cooperating with county home demonstration agents in selecting the teams. Counties which will enter in the contest are Graves, Jefferson, Mercer, Boyle

Shelby, Union, Harrison, Simpson, Harlan, Laurel, Garrard, Oldham and Whitley. Starting July 1 community contests will be held in each of these counties at which time community teams will be selected. These teams will train throughout the summer and just before the State Fair will compete in a county contest which will determine the team which will enter the Fair contest. The girls will demonstrate poultry culling, canning by steam and hot water method, bed making, dyeing, and the making of kimono aprons. This is said to be the first time that such a contest has been held for the club girls.

Todd County Juniors Will Have Calf Club.

Plans are being made by the Trenton Jersey Cattle Breeders' Association, Todd county, which is cooperating with County Agent I. C. Graddy, for the organization of a boys' and girls' calf club. A committee composed of John Garth, Norton Garth, W. H. Dickerson and J. H. Waller has been appointed by the association to begin active work in organizing the club. It is the plan of the organization to place a registered heifer calf with each boy and girl who wishes one and have them keep and develop her as the foundation of a future club.

The Goodrich price reduction which took effect May 2nd was without reservation. It included Silvertown together with Goodrich Safety tires and Goodrich Red and Grey inner tubes.

The name of Goodrich on a tire means just one thing—quality. And that quality is always the highest that can be produced.

Each tire is specially designed for the service it must deliver. Goodrich Fabrics, in the popular sizes, have established themselves as unusual values from the standpoint of real economy. Silvertown Cords in their class have always held first place in the esteem of motorists, not only because of their symmetrical perfection of finish, but furthermore, by reason of their long life, complete dependability and satisfactory performance.

Your dealer will supply you at these fair prices:

END "DRY" JOKES

Prohibition Chief Deplores Quips At Expense Of Law.

(Washington Bureau Dispatch to Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

The quips of newspaper humorists, the pictorial laughs of cartoonists and the funny cracks of stage comedians on the subject of prohibition may not transgress the Volstead Act, but they make the lot of prohibition enforcement officers no laughing matter.

This is the view of Roy A. Haynes, newly appointed prohibition commissioner, who has been intimately associated for more than thirty years. How seriously Mr. Haynes regards the things at prohibition he communicated to Washington newspaper men whom he assembled to give to the American people the first message of the new dry regime.

By way of introducing Commissioner Haynes, it may be said he is a rather cherubic appearing person with a the zeal of an evangelist tempered by the horse sense of the average small town editor, which he is. He earnestly declared the worst job of prohibition enforcement was to overcome the popular conception that it is a joke.

"I appeal," Mr. Haynes read from a prepared statement, "to the editors and news writers, to the cartoonists, to the reporters, to the stage writers, to the play writers, to the poets, to the law enforcement. The editorial, the cartoon, the news story, the play, the poem, the direct statement or the inferential suggestion that the 'dry' program is a joke, is a violation, or should be, of the law. It is a joke, but it is a joke which is not only harmful in warring the sentiment against the enforcement of this law, but it is a joke which influences the public to disregard the law in general."

The enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and its companion piece, the Volstead Act, Mr. Haynes contends is no laughing matter and to view them lightly is "unfair to the youth of the country and will encourage among the irresponsible the breaking of the law."

"I wish we might have in America," he continued, "a revival of respect for the sanctity and majesty of the law. I wish that it might be preached by the parents in the home, as well as by the teacher in the school; by the preacher in the pulpit; the writer and cartoonist, through the press, the actor on the stage; by every good citizen and agency. No greater blessing can come to America and the world than this. I want the help of every good, loyal citizen. I pledge, God helping me, every ounce of vigor and ability there is in me to this end. With comparatively few officials to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment, it cannot be effectively done without the co-operation of a patriotic and helpful citizenship. My ambition is to see the dry laws, as all laws, generally and properly enforced."

Discussing the immediate policy of the prohibition enforcement unit, Mr. Haynes said the new regulations designed to cover medicinal beer and whisky in accord with the ruling of former Attorney General Palmer were still under consideration and would be issued shortly if it appeared the amendments to the Volstead Act, now pending in Congress, show no indication of being passed within a few weeks.

BAD FEEDING IS CAUSE OF RUNTS

NEGLECTED AT WEANING TIME

Many Undersized Pigs Often Grow and Develop Into Useful Porkers.

After Growth of Animals Has Been Retarded It Takes Considerable More Feed to Overcome Condition and Grow Out.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"My nine years' experience in stock raising has been almost entirely with purebred cattle and hogs, and while some runts appear at birth they are not nearly so numerous as the runts caused by neglect and improper feeding and housing." This is the opinion of a Tennessee farmer in a letter to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Many Small Animals Develop. Specialists of the department emphasize the fact that runts are animals that are undersized or small at birth often grow and develop into useful, profitable animals if a little special attention is given them soon after birth. This is especially true with pigs. Unless the small pig of the litter is thus provided for when quite young, very often it is not worth feeding to maturity. If the proper kind or amount of feed is not given when very young, it required to compete with stronger or older animals for what they do get, born runts or those that are undersized will become more pronounced runts as they grow older. In this respect they resemble closely animals that are normal when young but later become runts from a lack of such proper feed and care which usually occurs about weaning time. After animals become runts or their growth retarded, undoubtedly it will take more feed to overcome this condition and grow them out.

Cause of Runts. "When pigs become runts," the Tennessee farmer adds, "they never become normal. I have estimated it requires at least 25 per cent more feed to put them in marketable condition than it does normal hogs. My experience with purebred dairy cattle is that fully 10 per cent of runts among cattle are caused by improper feeding and care. If the stock raiser of this country were educated in the proper feeding and care of live stock until they reached normal growth, the runts in live stock in the United States would be almost eliminated."

This statement not only further emphasizes the fact that it does not, broadly speaking, take more feed to prevent runt animals but does require considerably more feed to develop them once they become runts. Also that it rarely is advisable to feed out a pronounced runt. The only practical thing to do, therefore, is to prevent runting by providing the necessary feed, care, and management at the most critical periods of their growth and development. These periods with most animals are when very young and at weaning time.

FAILURE OF ORGANIZATIONS

Unless Farmers Remain Steadfastly Loyal Downfall Can Be Brought About Quickly.

An association of men opposed to a farmers' cooperative enterprise can bring about its downfall very quickly unless the farmers remain steadfastly loyal. Many cooperative organizations have failed through the weakness of members who could not resist the temptation offered of a fraction of a cent. When the opposition organization puts out a bait to catch you, try to remember it is only a lure to draw you from your own friends. Once you have deserted, the bait is withdrawn. Stick to your friends, if you expect them to stick to you.

RAPID LOSS OF PHOSPHORUS

Due to the Fact That Grain Is Sold —Stock Use Product in Making Bones and Tissues.

The fact that phosphorus is found largely in the grain or crops results in a relatively rapid loss of available phosphorus from the farm, for the grain usually is removed and sold. Even where all crops are fed on the farm the loss is large because growing animals use it in bones and other tissues.

Farm And Home News From Over Kentucky.

Many farmers in the Sylva community, Laramie county, are improving the soils on their farms with the use of limestone, according to County Agent J. W. Jones. One farmer has used 85 tons and the total amount used in the entire community has been 300 tons. Plans are being made to apply additional amounts this fall.

Eighteen girls in the Central Grove community, Ohio county, have become charter members of the Jefferson County Certified Seed Potato Growers' Association. E. S. Monahan, Jr., was elected president of the association, Adolph Maser, vice-president and John Lausmann, secretary-treasurer. These three men in addition to Jacob Rosenberger and George Hartman will compose the executive committee of the association.

Farmers who were interested in the new project obtained a car load of certified potato seed from Minnesota this spring which they used to start the work.

Sixty Jefferson county boys and girls are enrolled in the various pig clubs in that county, according to a report of County Agent E. E. Merriam. The youngsters are making rapid progress in developing their animals and are expected to make some good exhibits at the county and state fairs this fall.

Thirty boys and girls in the Lawrenceville community, Lawrence Co., have become charter members of a junior agricultural club recently organized by County Agent G. C. Baker.

According to a report of County Agent E. E. Merriam, approximately 100 flocks of purebred poultry will result from the work being done in that county this year by the poultry club. The organization has 150 members who represent a total of 3,000 chickens.

Six boys and girls in the Jones community, Livingston county, are now members of a pig club formed by County Agent I. C. Peace and have obtained their registered Duroc Jersey pigs with which to start work. A local bank cooperated in furnishing the money for the purchase of the animals.

Jefferson County Farmers To Raise Certified Spuds.

A number of Jefferson county farmers are now planning to grow certified seed potatoes, according to County Agent E. E. Merriam, who reports that 65 of those interested in the project recently became charter members of the Jefferson County Certified Seed Potato Growers' Association. E. S. Monahan, Jr., was elected president of the association, Adolph Maser, vice-president and John Lausmann, secretary-treasurer. These three men in addition to Jacob Rosenberger and George Hartman will compose the executive committee of the association.

CHARLES R. TAGGART.

Charles R. Taggart, musical humorist extraordinary, appearing on the last night of the coming Redpath Chautauqua, is a leading entertainer in the Chautauqua field. He is a musician, an impersonator, an unqualified story teller and is widely known as the "fiddling wizard."

The freshest fun, clean and rippling; bits of philosophy with wholesome good cheer, delightful tales of romance and mimicry—all lend life and color to the Taggart program of melody.

Rheumatism Relief--25c.

Nature's Remedy (N.R. Tablets). Are Helping Thousands Who Tried Every Other Thing Without Result. We Guarantee.

There are three vital processes of human existence—the digestion of food, the extraction of nourishment from it and the elimination of waste. Poor digestion and assimilation means failure to derive full nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, anemia, etc. Poor elimination means an accumulation of waste matter which poisons the body, lowers vitality, decreases the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.

Rheumatism—due to some interference with the process of elimination, failure to get rid of certain body poisons—cannot be expected to yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. Could any reasonable person expect to rid himself of rheumatic pain as long as the rheumatic poison is allowed to remain in the body?

Think of this. It explains the success of Nature's Remedy (N.R. Tablets) in so many cases where other medicines have failed. Thousands are using N.R. Tablets every day and getting relief. Why pay five or ten times as much for uncertain things? A 25c box of Nature's Remedy (N.R. Tablets), containing enough to last twenty-five days—must help you, must give you prompt relief and satisfactory benefit or cost you nothing. Nature's Remedy is not only for the relief of rheumatism. It improves digestion, tones the liver, regulates kidney and bowel action, improves the blood and cleanses the system. You've tried the expensive medicines and doctors, now make the real test. You'll get results this time. Just try N. R. Nature's Remedy (N.R. Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Todd County Farmers Plan War With Scrubs

Todd county farmers cooperating with County Agent I. C. Graddy will start a campaign July 1 which will have for its purpose the elimination of all scrub dairy sires in the county according to a report which has just been made to E. M. Prewitt, dairy extension specialists from the College of Agriculture. The drive will last for one year if necessary to replace all the scrubs. The Todd County Farm Bureau, the Trenton Jersey Cattle Breeders' Association, various community clubs and the Extension Division of the College of Agriculture will cooperate with the farmers and County Agent Graddy in carrying on the work.

Lay Off, Mr. President.

A story comes out of Washington to the effect that the administration will attempt to induce the public to relieve the government of the ten billions of dollars of indebtedness now due it by the allied countries of Europe.

According to report, the plan as tentatively outlined calls for the converting of this indebtedness into long time bonds of the European governments, these bonds to be sold by our government to the American people at large and the proceeds to be turned into the federal treasury, with a possibility that they may be used in the retiring of liberty bonds.

That would be fine for the federal treasury, but how about the people who buy these bonds?

If this huge indebtedness passes into the hands of private individuals, who is going to guarantee that the foreign governments will pay the interest and principal when due?

The only guarantee that would be of any value would be that of the American government, and the government has neither the army or the navy with which to enforce its demands.

If our own government, the strongest on earth and with its vast and inexhaustible resources, is unable to keep the market value of its own at par, why should the people be asked to believe that the bonds of debt ridden foreign governments will not shrink to even lower levels of value?

According to newspaper reports Europe has for two years defaulted on the payment of even the interest on the ten billions they owe us.

If they cannot or will not pay even the interest to the government of the United States, which has the power to apply a certain degree of pressure if it so desires, have we any reason to expect that they would be any more prompt or solicitous in meeting their obligations to private individuals who are without means of applying coercive measures in the collection of the interest and principal due them?

Those ten billions of dollars—money belonging to the people of the United States—were loaned to the European allies by the American government.

Let the government plug up the hole in the bag with its own fist—plug it up until it hurts.

Caution warns us, Mr. President, that this is the psychological moment to lay off.

Creating A Super Race.

Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, personal physician to President Harding, is working on a plan for the development of a super race of people in the United States.

It is intimated that the Washington administration is interested in the plan.

During the examination for the draft it was found that one-third of the young men of military age were defective physically. Reputable physicians estimate that an equal number of women are defective.

It is the plan of General Sawyer to begin with the babies and afford them scientific care and training until they reach the age of maturity.

If parents generally can be induced to adhere to the rules laid down it is estimated that an improvement of 27 per cent will be noted in the first generation.

The object is praiseworthy, and the administration might well lend its active aid and support.

It is a well known fact among medical men that our race is sadly in need of improvement—not necessarily the injection of new blood, but rather the purification of the blood that now exists.

But will the parents of the present generation take kindly and readily to the suggestion?

We doubt it, unless it has a tremendously powerful backing.

Teaching old dogs new tricks has ever been a difficult task.

Sanity And The Fourth.

Some years ago the Fourth of July meant hours of wild rejoicing and cavorting. It also meant thousands of men, women and children maimed or killed in the inevitable premature explosions, fires and other accidents, to say nothing of the fatalities resulting from the ever present fights.

Such was our manner of celebrating our independence in former years.

But today it is different. There is just as much patriotism and no less rejoicing but it is done in a sane manner as he comes an enlightened and dignified people.

Next to the birth of Christ, the Fourth of July always be the greatest day in history to us, but as time goes on we will learn to observe it in a manner befitting the birth of the greatest nation on earth.

Hail to America and the starry flag!

A metropolitan newspaper points out that women have been experimenting in dress since the days of Mother Eve, always seeking something more becoming, more practical and sanitary, and something that affords greater freedom of movement.

The present short skirt is the result of these centuries of experimenting and perpetual evolution.

Everything new attracts attention and comment, until it is accepted as a custom. Then it is regarded as right and becomes merely an incident of the day.

Let the woman and her short skirts alone. They are sane, sensible, and sanitary.

Men who are sticklers for long skirts should don themselves and parade to their hearts' content.

No one will object.

Squeaking Shoes.

The annoying "squeak" that some shoes have is caused by layers of pieces of leather rubbing together. Some shoemakers open the side and insert a bit of felt; or a peg or two, or a number of pegs driven into the sole from the outside stops the sound.—Hostess.

Just A Few More Facts.

EDITOR RECORD:

Dear Sir:—

As I have not the time just now, and doubtless without notice you would not have the space for the statement in regard to my administration that I promised to make, I trust you will grant me room in this week's Record for just a few words in reply to the attack made last week by the democratic committee.

Four years ago when I made my announcement for the office of County Judge, I stated that I was not a politician, and had no desire to become one. Ever since that time I have lived up to that statement and believe that I have given Garrard County the most non-partisan administration that it has ever had.

Yet in the face of all this, the men who this year represent, or I might say, misrepresent the democratic party in our county, pervert, distort, misstate, misrepresent every act of this administration disregarding every fact, until, like a race horse without class, that has been down the line always meeting defeat, and at the end of the season when turning for the word in the last race of his career, having become sour on the whole world because he can never win, will bite and kick at every one near him, regardless of whom they may be; so these men already realizing that this year will not only be defeated but distanced in the race, show their venom and vent their spleen, by making these false accusations and misstatements.

While I fully realize that such an article as they published in last week's issue of the Record is unworthy of notice, still I wish again to call the attention of the public to the fact that I will in ample time make a statement of all matters pertaining to this administration in which the tax payers and the citizens of our county are interested.

In the meantime just to show what a campaign of misrepresentation these men are carrying on, it is only necessary to point out one statement in the article referred to. These gentlemen assert and doubtless expect the public to believe that the oil inspector of Garrard County is drawing a salary of eighteen hundred dollars per year from the County Treasury, when as a matter of fact the oil inspector is paid by the oil company ten cents per barrel of oil inspected, and no salary is paid by the county or any one else for this service, and in place of eighteen hundred dollars per year the present oil inspector has received an average of between $50 and $60 per month to date, during his term of office.

Will further state that as yet I have never seen fit to ask the Democratic County Committee for a letter of recommendation for whom I may or may not appoint to this or any other position that I have the power to fill. While I have no desire to emulate in all matters the example set by my democratic predecessors, still I would call the attention to the fact that it was a democratic Judge who set the precedent in this county of appointing his son to the position of oil inspector, Judge Ford having very properly appointed one of his sons to fill this place.

I feel sure that the sensible thinking citizens of our county will not endorse such statements as these men, who are speaking for their candidates, have made, for they either knowingly or willfully misrepresent all facts, or by their own statements are so ignorant of the duties of County officials that they cannot be trusted with the offices they seek.

I am not a candidate for office, and as I have stated before am seeing no controversy of any kind; my record is open to inspection, and I have handled the County's affairs in such a way that I have always hoped and believed, and still feel fully assured that I will be permitted to retire to look after my private business affairs with the respect and confidence of the better class of citizens of Garrard county regardless of politics.

Very truly yours,
Forest Slapp.

ENTERTAINERS

On The Chautauqua Program.

Thumb-nail Sketches of Those Who Will Appear Before Local Audiences.

The following introduction to each of the entertainers is provided by the Chautauqua publicity bureau.

Ada Ward.

Ada Ward, dynamic, magnetic lecturer, captivates her audiences with "You Americans." Miss Ward sees America with the eyes of a cultivated cosmopolitan and interprets it with fire, wit and eloquent understanding.

Charles Zueblin.

Charles Zueblin, eminent publicist, delivers a distinctly forceful and timely lecture. He is a practical diplomat with a clear cut, incisive message tempered with keen humor and a thoroughly human philosophy.

The Brahms Trio.

The Brahms Trio, violin, piano and cello, is personally directed by Ralph Michaels, exceptional musician and organizer. Ensemble numbers from classics, and solos of unfailing charm and popular appeal are featured by these master musicians.

Chester M. Sanford.

Chester Milton Sanford is an expert in vocational guidance. His lecture "Failures of the Mystics," is a distinctly practical aid in choosing a life vocation. It is vitally important to young and old alike.

Charles R. Taggart.

Charles R. Taggart is a musician, a humorist and an improvisator. The cleanest, ripplingest, and the freshest fun goes into the building of his program. Charles Taggart is a fun-maker extraordinary.

Weybelle Concert Company.

The Weybelle Concert Company is composed of remarkably versatile entertainers who feature delightful, varied programs. Vera Weybelle, accomplished Danish violinist, is also an exceptional central soloist.

Sylkov Orchestra.

The Sylkov Orchestra presents an exceptionally enjoyable concert. Melodious ensemble numbers and violin solos by Walter Sylkov, feature artist, make the concert a distinct event in every community.

Fine Arts Quartet.

Irish and gypsy sketches, given in costume, are among the striking program offerings of the Fine Arts Quartet. This company will be heard in a full concert on the last afternoon and a recital at night.

Famous Light Opera, "The Mikado."

A big Chautauqua feature is the famous Gilbert and Sullivan light opera, "The Mikado." Mirthful music, clever lyrics and surefire comedy abound in characteristic Gilbert and Sullivan style. The company is under the direction of George Herbert, one of the most successful conductors of light opera in America.

"Nothing But the Truth."

"Nothing But The Truth," reflecting comedy success, will be presented by a splendid New York cast. As a novel, "Nothing But The Truth" was read by millions, and later as a play it ran more than a season on Broadway. From first to last it inspired a constant game of inerrant.

Renovating a Lantern.

If the iron surface of your lantern has become rusty rub off all the rust with the fine glasspaper or other polishing material. When the smooth iron is exposed give it a coat of black lead, or some similar preparation.

Great Fresh-Water Lake.

Lake Balkal, in Siberia, is one of the great inland fresh-water seas, being nearly as long as Lake Superior, but not so wide. It is flanked by great mountains, and its shores are filled with wood cutters and fishermen, but there are very few hunters, although many fur-bearing animals are found in the great forests about it.

THERE are more than 2,500,000 users of the De Laval Cream Separator, and practically all display the sign of superior satisfaction. Their life signs read: "We use the De Laval Cream Separator" are posted in homes and barns and other prominent places all over the world.

Each sign is a personal recommendation of the owner. Each sign indicates the grade with which the owner regards his De Laval.

The most progressive and most prosperous farmers in nearly every dairying section own De Laval. They know the De Laval alone cleans, runs smooth and lasts longer than any other separator, and that it may be depended upon to put more money in the bank.

The De Laval is particularly well liked by women. It turns cream than other separators, is more easily cleaned, and does its work in less time.

Call in and let us demonstrate the superiority of the De Laval.

Mr. Coleman Hicks was married last Thursday to Miss Elsie Muncie, daughter of Mr. Jerry Muncie, of this county. Mr. Hicks is one of Garrard's progressive farmers. These new-weds have the best wishes of their friends for a long and happy life together. The marriage took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Powell, the officiating minister being Rev. I. W. Manley, of this city.

SIXTY MILES AN HOUR
To The Best Town In Kentucky.
An old man whose name we will omit, realized a few days ago that he owed his neighbor a bushel of corn, which he had borrowed over a year ago, so his honest heart drove him to his crib where he filled a sack to its brim. It was then that he began a search for his wheelbarrow and found that a neighbor had borrowed it some two days before. This seemed to rile the good old man, who began to fume and wonder why his friend and neighbor should treat him thus, by not returning his barrow, yet he himself had kept his neighbor's corn for over a year. He proceeded to drag the sack to the front gate, when a lady approached driving a handsome automobile. She stopped to inquire the way to the best town in Kentucky and after she had received the desired information and a cool drink of water, she asked the old gentleman, where he was going with his sack and if she could be of any assistance. Knowing that she had in pass by the home of the neighbor of whom he had borrowed the corn, he asked that he might ride with her, to which she readily agreed. Placing the sack of corn in the tonneau of the car, he took his seat beside the accommodating lady and the journey began. As they were nearing the home of the neighbor, the lady discovered a mouse crawling over her shoulder, which had evidently been concealed in the sack of corn.
Imagine the excitement that a small rodent would create under the existing conditions! In order to avoid a calamity, the lady leaped from the automobile, leaving the poor old man to work out his own salvation. He leaped to the steering wheel quickly and undertook to stop the car, but the good old man found himself unacquainted with an automobile, as he had never driven anything but a Ford.
He found that every lever he pulled, caused the car to increase in speed, until he found that he was entering Lancaster on Richmond street, with its magnificent dwellings, ice plant, electric plant, one church and a number of business houses, then making some three or four circles around the "square," with its fountain of pure water, its three banks, hardware stores, clothing stores, furniture stores, drug stores, hotel and a number of grocery and dry good stores, he guided his machine out Stanford street at a forty mile an hour clip. Here he finds two churches, two garages, hardware store and Garrard county's Tobacco Warehouse; at this point he turned his machine to the left and found himself driving through one of the most beautiful cemeteries in the state of Kentucky. Leaving this section of the city he was compelled to take in Campbell street observing in his speed a handsome depot, two flour mills, two lumber yards, two coal yards and three general stores. To his utter surprise he found himself again on the public square, with his car still increasing in speed, but he saw in making one more circle of the square, a few doctor's offices, law offices, barber shops, police station, court house, etc.
Here he succeeded in pointing his machine toward Danville street, with its church, hardware store, undertaking establishment, upholstering shop, shoe hospital, magnificent post office building. At this point he swerved to the right and soon found himself on Maple avenue with its modern homes and beautiful lawns; a turn to the East brought him on Lexington avenue with a few more business houses, garages, magnificent residences and the most beautiful and best equipped graded school building in all of Kentucky.
At this time the old man had succeeded in getting control of his machine and it was then that he decided that Lancaster, Ky., was surely the best town in the state and that he would go back, kill the mouse, make peace with the lady, and move with his family to Lancaster and there live happily ever afterward.

Farm And Home News From Over Kentucky

Wayne county farmers are displaying an interest in more pure bred live stock for their farms, according to a report of County Agent H. J. Hayes in which he states that one man has already purchased a pure bred sire, another has agreed to dispose of his scrub animals and several others have signified their intention of entering the campaign.

Farm boys and girls in the vicinity of Chosenut Grove, Taylor county, have organized a junior agricultural club, according to a report of County Agent J. L. Miller.

Taylor county farmers are learning new orchard management methods from the orchard of F. E. Weather, which contains 100 trees and which he is conducting as a demonstration in co-operating with County Agent J. L. Miller. The orchard was recently pruned and plans made to continue the work started last year.

Plans are being made by Gordon H. Nance, county agent of Oldham county, for starting community judging contests as a means of selecting the junior live stock judging team which will represent that county in the contest to be held at the State Fair this fall.

Cattle tuberculosis eradication work on the community plan is going rapidly forward in Crittenden county, according to John R. Spencer, county agent, who reports that 361 cattle are waiting to be tested.

Farmers in the Merry Oaks community, Harren county, are making arrangements to organize a senior farm club which will co-operate with the junior agricultural club, a report of County Agent, F. D. Horning states.

Distribution of purebred hatching eggs in connection with the poultry standardization campaign being conducted by the College of Agriculture in co-operation with county farm agents has ended in Taylor county with a record of 15,500 eggs placed on different farms, according to a report of County Agent J. L. Miller. The county is standardizing on Barred Plymouth Rocks.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING Is Favorably Received Throughout Tobacco Districts.

Bluegrass Section Interested.

More than 4,500 persons vitally interested in the success of the Hurley Tobacco industry, heard Aaron Sapiro last week during his tour of the Bluegrass in behalf of the co-operative marketing plan now being offered to the growers.

At places where he spoke, a growing sentiment in favor of co-operation was marked, while the active work of signing contracts was launched with great enthusiasm in each county.

Members of the organization declare that the prospects for speedy success are excellent.

At Shelbyville, where Mr. Sapiro opened the campaign Monday afternoon, June 13, more than 1,500,000 pounds of tobacco were signed up for the association in less than an hour. Under the supervision of B. A. Thomas, C. L. Walters, and other prominent growers of Shelby County, the work of signing up has been carried on vigorously since, and the total number of pounds considerably increased. Mr. Sapiro crowded the court room here, with growers eager to hear his outline of the co-operative plan.

Mr. Sapiro spoke at Richmond Tuesday afternoon, before a very enthusiastic crowd. It had not been intended to attempt to sign contracts at this meeting, but the growers were so insistent that more than 385,000 pounds were pledged in a very few minutes. T. S. Barman, the local chairman, will be assisted in the work of promoting the organization in Madison county, by Harvey Chenault, Walter Bennett, Harry Hanger, Harry Hanger, Jr., J. J. Nantz, William Arluke, T. J. Curtis, Paul Barman and others. A vote on the plan was practically unanimously favorable. Organization is proceeding rapidly in Madison county.

Under the leadership of W. E. Simms, a meeting was called in Versailles Tuesday night to hear Mr. Sapiro. No effort was made to obtain signatures to the contract at this meeting on account of the lateness of the hour when the meeting adjourned. Mr. Sapiro was heard with attention by about 600 lending growers of Woodford county. Mr. Simms will perfect a county organization with the assistance of Johnson N. Camden, also member of the Organization Committee.

Mr. Sapiro went Wednesday to Cynthiana where he addressed the most enthusiastic meeting of the series. He was interrupted by repeated and prolonged cheers of approval as he made points in favor of co-operative movements for farmers and growers. J. R. Jones presided at this meeting. No attempt was made to obtain signers for the contract, as this was the first meeting held in Harrison county. But many prominent growers of the section were so eager to sign that they insisted on members of the Organization Committee ransacking their pockets for copies of the contract. J. Quincy Ward is serving as temporary chairman for that county.

The fifth meeting of the week held at Maysville, where J. N. Kehoe had largely prepared the way for Mr. Sapiro. More than 670,000 pounds of tobacco were signed up for the association in less than half an hour. County organization is practically complete in Mason County, and no difficulty is expected in reaching the minimum of 75 per cent. Mr. Sapiro went from Maysville to White Sulphur Springs, Va., where he spoke before a meeting of the Virginia State Bankers Association on the co-operative plan of marketing.

Judge Robert W. Hingham, Louisville, Chairman of the Organization Committee, substituted for Mr. Sapiro at a meeting held at Danville Friday night. More than 250 growers heard him at a meeting in the court house. Contracts were distributed, but no effort was made to obtain signatures at such a late hour. Col. R. G. Evans, president at this meeting.

Mr. Sapiro wound up his educational tour of Kentucky with a large meeting at Lexington Saturday afternoon in the Woodland Auditorium. It is estimated that about 1,500 persons heard this address. When a vote was called for, it was practically unanimous in favor of the proposed plan. Large delegations came to this meeting from Clark, Nicholas, Bourbon, Jessamine, Madison, Scott, Woodford and other neighboring counties. Louis Lee Haggen, owner of one of the largest farms in Fayette county was the first man to sign the contract. Contracts were distributed but the growers were not asked to sign. The whole impression of the tour, which was designed to put the message of co-operation before the growers by a master of the subject, was uniformly thought to be distinctly favorable.

It will be followed by a series of smaller meetings in each of the counties where organization has been started. Joseph Passonneau has announced. At the same time organization is being extended into new counties and new states by the organization committee.

Ralph M. Barker, Carrollton, has arranged meetings at Warsaw, Ky., June 25, at Vevy, Ind., July 2 at New Castle, Ky., July 9, and at Bedford, Ky., July 16. Other dates have been requested by Kentucky and Indiana towns, but no definite announcements have been made.

I Will Not.

(Lexington Herald.)

It was a beautiful night, Wednesday, May 14th, 1919. The Auditorium in Lexington was crowded. The republican clans had gathered. From every county in the state were representatives of the republican party, come together to adopt a platform and nominate a ticket for state offices. It is true the law required a nomination should be made by a primary election. But the leaders of the republican party determined to have a convention and make "recommendations" for all nominations.

It was a most admirably managed convention. It worked with the precision of a well-oiled piece of machinery. A platform was adopted that promised everything to everybody. The men selected by the leaders were "recommended" for nomination.

A gallant youth appeared upon the platform, bearing high a banner on which was inscribed in golden letters the mystic phrase "I Will Not." An attractive personality, with twinkling, flashing eye and winning smile, yet with a resonant voice that carried his message to every part of the great building in which he spoke, and even far beyond the confines of the building to the remotest parts of the state. Of proud lineage, the son of an eminent jurist and gallant soldier and nephew of the best beloved leaders of the republican party was he. The flaming banner on which was inscribed the mystic symbol "I Will Not" riveted the attention of the spellbound auditors.

In his sonorous voice he amplified that inscription; the twinkle left his eye; it flashed with earnest purpose; his voice rang out, surcharged with feeling as he exclaimed with passionate patriotism: "I will not."

"Alas, or misuse the pardoning power, nor will I pardon any guilty man, nor will I use the great power for political ends."

For a moment there was that stillness that comes with overwhelming emotion; then the great convulsion of republicans and independents, who desired only the best for the state, and democrats who believed public office to be a public trust, gave vent to their deep approval of this high pledge of the gallant youth, who bore the banner with the cryptic message, "I will not."

Three claps, the scene changed. The gallant youth of high demeanor and resonant voice, occupies the proudest position in the noble State of Kentucky. With faith in his high promise, hypnotized by the flaming banner he unfolded on May 14th, 1919, an overwhelming majority of the men of Kentucky had chosen him as Chief Executive.

In his office at the capital of the state, surrounded by the spirits of the great men who in days gone by served well the Commonwealth, with his pledge to the people ratified and emphasized by his oath of office, he discharged the duties of the Chief Magistrate to whom is given the power of pardon—the most precious power that can be given to a human being.

A distinguished citizen of the state comes to him—a citizen whose services have been rewarded by his party by his election as a member of the Republican State Central and Executive Committee—the Honorable Maurice Galvin, of Covington. He asks the gallant youth, now Governor, to grant a pardon to one Frank Blair, alias John Doe, confined in the penitentiary.

A most interesting record has that same Frank Blair, alias John Doe. In 1918 he entered a business place in Louisville, held up the proprietor, robbed him of his money, and was captured after a desperate struggle. He was held under a three thousand dollar bond. Roscoe Searcy, who has the lucrative position of Deaf Inspector of Jefferson county, a brother of Chesley Searcy, chairman of the Republican State Central and Executive Committee, succeeded in having that bond reduced to eight hundred dollars when the regular police judge was not on the bench, and Nick Vaughn, a republican attorney, now a candidate for the republican nomination for judge, was acting in his stead. Mr. Searcy immediately went to the bond recorder's office, put up eight hundred dollars in cash, proceeded to the county jail, secured Blair's release without notification to the chief of police—and Blair skipped.

Within a short time Blair was arrested in Ohio, charged with trying to rob a man on a sleeping car and as a result of that arrest he was returned to Louisville for trial and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years.

W. C. Lytle, postoffice inspector wrote to the warden of the Kentucky state penitentiary, telling him that there was an indictment against

Blair in the Federal Court of Indiana, and asking that he be notified of his release, closing his letter: "Kindly acknowledge receipt and give the requested information with a statement that he will not be released until I am notified."

H. V. Baston, the superintendent of the Frankfort penitentiary, wrote to Mr. Lytle:

"We have marked our records, so you will be notified in time to have an officer here to take charge of him when he is discharged or paroled."

Blair is charged with robbing a bank in Leavenworth, Ind. of $50,000 worth of Liberty Bonds in 1918, is under indictment in Evansville on the charge of stealing government property.

But to return to the Governor's office. The Hon. Morris Galvin, member of the Republican State Central and Executive Committee, requested the Governor to pardon Blair. A letter from Blair was presented stating that he was drunk when he committed the crime in Louisville, and that he had a letter from a tubercular sister in California, and a letter from the man he assaulted in Louisville requesting his pardon.

There was no request from any of the officers of the Commonwealth in Louisville familiar with the facts, neither from the judge nor the prosecuting attorney, nor the members of the jury who tried the case.

But the Governor—the same gallant youth who in the Auditorium at Lexington had proclaimed "I Will Not"—alike nor misuse the pardoning power, nor will I pardon any guilty man, nor will I use this great power for political ends—granted the pardon upon the ground that Blair was drunk when he committed the crime for which he was sentenced. He did not make any investigation—not even such cursory investigations as to ascertain the notions on Blair's prison record that included the promise of the warden of the penitentiary, a state official, to a postoffice inspector of the Federal Government, to notify him of Blair's release.

These are the facts in the record as revealed in the records of the courts and the prison, and interviews with the high contracting or pardoning powers.

What is the secret? Who is Blair? What is the source of the mysterious influence? Why did Roscoe Searcy, the Deaf Inspector of Jefferson county, a brother of the chairman of the Republican State Central and Executive Committee, induce Nick Vaughn to reduce Blair's bond, go personally to get him out of jail, with the result that Blair skipped? Why did the Hon. Morris Galvin, member of the Republican State Central and Executive Committee, interest himself in securing a pardon for Blair, go personally to take him from the penitentiary to

No Red Tape.

"One thing I particularly admire about the law of gravitation," said Sir Isaac Newton as he rubbed his head when the apple hit him, "is the simplicity and accuracy of the methods for its enforcement."

Alchemy.

In the little town of Atulub, New Mexico, where it is a rare occurrence to see a white woman, two men, Stone and Wood, were standing on the sidewalk, when a well-dressed young lady came tripping down the street. Wood turned to Stone, and Stone turned to Wood, and as she passed they both turned to rubber.—Science and invention.

A Cheerful Note.

"All things are full of iniquity and vice; more crime is committed than can be remedied by restraint. We struggle in a huge contest of criminality. Daily the passion for sin is greater. The shame in committing it is less." . . . This is not the outcry of one who looks with alarm upon the orgies of the profiteers, the operations of the auto bandits, the greed of landlords, and the pernicious activities of the grafters, gamblers, market manipulators and crooked politicians. It is the philosopher Seneca's description of conditions in Rome 2,000 years ago.

American Legion News

A national fund for the erection of a memorial to F. W. Galbraith, Jr., late commander of the American Legion, has been started by Home-wood Post of Philadelphia. A check covering the first contribution to the fund has been forwarded to the national headquarters of the Legion at Indianapolis. The Legion's committee of memorials of which T. Semmes Walmsley, of New Orleans, is chairman, has not yet announced a plan for a memorial.

Members of the Kings County New York American Legion posts will visit the graves of Col. Roosevelt at Oyster Bay July 4, to deposit a memorial wreath and conduct a brief service.

The superslacker of the United States" as he describes himself is being sought by federal authorities aided by members of the American Legion throughout the northwest. He has written to Governor Hart of Washington, requesting that his name be placed at the top of the slacker list. He wrote that he was F. E. Saylor of Genesee, Idaho, and although he successfully dodged the draft by moving to another city and assuming name, he has enjoyed all the glories of a returned A. E. F. hero through the purchase of a soldier's discharge and several war medals. And you ought to hear me tell the girls of all the battles I was in, he writes.

The Elks lodge of Lafayette, Ind., has withdrawn plans for a Fourth of July celebration to avoid conflict with a celebration of the American Legion.

That George Carpenter, in his coming bout with Dempsey, will hit the latter so hard that he will see tricolored stars for the remainder of his life, is the hope of the American Legion of San Bernardino County, Calif., which recently, at an interpost meeting, unanimously adopted a resolution supporting the French pugilist. Members of the American Legion Post of Palatka, Fla., have sent Carpenter a copy of a resolution which they recently adopted giving the latter the moral support of the post.

American Legion posts throughout the United States will read the last public speech of Col. F. W. Galbraith at their Fourth of July celebrations. The speech of a plea for the Citizens' Military Training Camp, was delivered by the late national commander a few hours before he met death in an automobile accident at Indianapolis. "I come to you," declared Mr. Galbraith, "as one of those thousands of Americans who went into the world war without the benefit of a training camp. We believe in preparing the young men of this country for citizenship. A part of this citizenship consists of being ready to defend our country in the time of need." Copies of the speech are being forwarded to the posts from the national headquarters of the Legion at Indianapolis.

A movement has been started by a number of posts of the American Legion to have the body of the unknown American soldier, to be brought back from France, buried under the dome of the National Capitol instead of in Arlington National Cemetery. The George Washington post has appointed a committee to formulate and have introduced in Congress a resolution changing the place of burial.

An inheritance of $40,000 made scarcely a ripple in the life of Joe Hokau, member of the Kern post of the American Legion at Toledo, Hokau is a policeman. When notified of his good fortune he was asked if he intended quitting the police force.

"I can do a greater service as a policeman than in any other way, and after all, what pleasure is greater than that of doing something worth while," he said.

Members of the American Legion in Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida have been notified that their efforts to exclude a colony of Mennonites from those states have been successful. The Mennonites are going to Mexico. Members of the legion opposed the settlement of the Mennonites because they evaded military service on religious grounds.

The Chamber of Commerce at Columbus, Ga., is endeavoring to have restrictions against the use of fire works on the Fourth of July removed so that there might be a general pyrotechnic display in honor of the delegates to the American Legion state convention to be held there July 4, 5 and 6th.

Artificial Limbs.

Another Ancient Civilization.

It was recently discovered in the vicinity of El Berote, State of Vera Cruz, reveal the existence of an ancient civilization hitherto unknown. Idols discovered are neither of stone or clay, but of a curious bright substance, heavy and looking like tin.

Galileo.

The galileo was originally a warship of three or four gun-decks. The name was subsequently applied to the Spanish treasure-ships which brought from the Spanish possessions in Mexico and South America gold and silver and other wealth to Spain. They were large, unwieldy vessels, and were eagerly sought after as prizes during the times of war on account of the immense wealth they contained.

The Right of Free Speech.

It appears now that we were premature in awarding the celluloid teatling fork for the season's worst pun. The prize really belongs to the perpetrator of this one. On one remarkable to a friend the other day that Delaware was complaining, as usual, about the frost retarding her peach crop, he retorted, eloquently: "Well, what of it? A state has a right to freeze peach, hasn't it?"—Boston Transcript.
